107TH CONGRESS 2D SESSION

H. R. 5497

To authorize assistance through eligible nongovernmental organizations to remove and dispose of unexploded ordnance in agriculturally-valuable lands in developing countries.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

September 26, 2002

Ms. Woolsey (for herself, Ms. Solis, and Mr. McGovern) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on International Relations

A BILL

To authorize assistance through eligible nongovernmental organizations to remove and dispose of unexploded ordnance in agriculturally-valuable lands in developing countries.

- 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
- 2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
- 3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
- 4 This Act may be cited as the "Roots of Peace Act
- 5 of 2002".
- 6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
- 7 Congress makes the following findings:

- 1 (1) There are more than an estimated 2 70,000,000 landmines in 70 countries—more than 3 one-third of all countries in the world.
  - (2) Landmines are indiscriminate weapons of mass destruction, detonating on the sandal of a child just as easily as on the boot of a soldier.
  - (3) Every 22 minutes someone steps on a landmine.
  - (4) More than 10,000 women and children are maimed or killed by landmines each year.
    - (5) Many landmines are in developing countries that are working to build the governmental and social institutions that are necessary for social stability.
    - (6) Many landmines are in agriculturally rich areas, such as Afghanistan's Shomali Valley, that, were it not for the risk to farmers wishing to cultivate the land, would provide food for the local people and contribute to the national economy.
    - (7) The United Nations estimates that more than 700 square kilometers in Afghanistan are littered with 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 landmines.
  - (8) More than 300 innocent people step on landmines each month in Afghanistan as they try to repatriate and farm their lands.

- 1 (9) The Shomali Valley, now awash with land2 mines, was once considered the "breadbasket" of Af3 ghanistan and is roughly the size of the San 4 Juaquin Valley in California.
  - (10) The United States Humanitarian Demining Program has organized crucial aid to Afghanistan and other nations for the removal of landmines and rehabilitation of the people and land affected by them.
  - (11) Expanding the United States Humanitarian Demining Program to include assistance to nongovernmental organizations that carry out both demining activities and activities to restore agriculturally-valuable lands after such demining activities would strengthen the mission of the Program.
  - (12) Nongovernmental organizations, like Roots for Peace, do critical work to remove landmines and help local populations redevelop that land for agriculture.
  - (13) These organizations often have critical funding shortages that hamper their efforts to assist civilians worldwide.
  - (14) Facilitating nongovernmental assistance to countries such as Afghanistan will foster goodwill

1	among the local population, thereby promoting the
2	national interest of the United States.
